

Athol local and field team,

As part of our renewed commitment to employee engagement, we are excited to announce we are restarting the S.T.A.T (Starrett Today and Tomorrow) employee recognition program with a broader reach and modern tools. You will also be happy to know that we have carried over your points from the former program to the new digital version.

This program is part of our effort to build a culture of recognition. It's important we recognize one another for a job well done. S.T.A.T will allow us to foster one common language of appreciation across the organization by giving you the opportunity to recognize your peers or be recognized yourself through an innovative, easy-to-use web-based platform.

Key Highlights

S.T.A.T is designed to make the employee recognition experience engaging, simple, and memorable. Key features of the program include:

- ☒ A variety of award levels to recognize varying levels of contributions, plus an "award advisor" to help you choose the right award when nominating someone
- ☒ A social "company news feed," that functions similar to other social media sites, where you can see recognition happening with your peers and congratulate others on their awards
- ☒ Point-based awards that you can redeem for a vast selection of reward options, including shopping, dining, entertainment, and adventure; redeem points right away or bank them for a larger reward later
- ☒ The ability to record personalized video messages for your colleagues when giving awards
- ☒ A free, full-function mobile app for smartphone devices
